

A VISIT TO THE HOME DEPARTMENT

- A place gets to know about the opportunities

After the successful completion of one month in MRCET, the first year students had a departmental visit on 29th July 2017, of their respective branches in the college, as to get connected to important resources which help them to learn about engineering as a profession and guide them to explore in their stream line. Moreover it is the general norm of the college to encourage fresher's to showcase their talents and interact with their department faculty and seniors in an amicable environment.

All the HODs of the respective departments inspired the first year students by giving motivational talks and also taking them around their respective departments. The first year students were very impressed with the infrastructure and the well equipped labs of the home departments. The HODs suggested the students to work very hard and shine in their particular subjects as they definitely have bright prospects in their future. The students also had a visit to the placement office. The placement officer gave a 45 minute motivational talk and urged the students to score good marks in order to get placed in well reputed companies. For this, he said besides scoring good marks, the students should also work on their soft skills for success.

After the departmental visit, the students were back to the H& S block with great optimism.
